ST. JOSEPH'S ALTAR—Monsignor James McGough of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis celebrates Mass before a St. Joseph's Altar at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main Street Tuesday in honor of St. Joseph's Feast Day traditionally celebrated on March 19. The tradition began centuries ago in Sicily

when people showed thanks to St. Joseph for sending rain to end a drought by offering food, their most precious possession. The tradition continues to this day in America as people give thanks for prayers answered. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Altar to raise money. The donations collected are distributed to several area churches. This year's altar is in honor of Beatie Presley, who was recently released from the hospital. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Bay St. Louis sending out new utility bills

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
City Clerk Edward Favre reported to the Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday that a computer change-over in the utility department is complete.

Favre said the first bills on the new system have also been mailed to customers.

"With the conversion to the new system any beginning balance is listed as an adjustment to the bill," he said.

Favre added that there had been several calls to city hall inquiring about the adjustment figure and warned council they might be getting questioned about this as well.

"The next bills will be able to reflect a beginning balance but as this was the first time on this system we could not show this on the new bills," he said.

According to Favre, the new bills have an area where the city can print any message necessary.

"We can print any kind note or public service message from notifying customers of possible water cutoffs to an election reminder," Favre said.

Favre told the council this could save the city money if there was a message the city had to get out to the public as there had been in the past when there had been a mix-up in water samples and the city was required to inform all customers.

In other business the council: —Authorized Favre to advertise their intent to borrow $350,000 for construction of kindergarten classrooms for the Bay St. Louis

Youth injured

Nine-year-old Fabian Collins Jr. was injured Tuesday when he was hit by a car while riding his bicycle near the intersection of Bookter and Watts streets.

Bay St. Louis Detective David Murtagh said the driver of the car, Angeline E. Johnson, 40, of 623 Keller Street, Bay St. Louis was issued a citation for driving without a license.

of multiple injuries and was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Harold Stiglet.

The Waveland Fire Department had to use Jaws of Life to remove Babineau from his GMC pickup truck, Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

The injured driver, Marion Necaise Jr., 17, of Lakeshore, was reported stable and in good condition at Garden Park Hospital in Gulfport Wednesday afternoon, a hospital spokesperson said.

Babineau was headed east and Necaise was driving his Ford pickup west when the two vehicles collided about 300 yards west of St. Ann's Church, Peterson said.

No charges were filed in connection with the accident.

The investigation is continuing with Deputy Joe Pica in charge.

Also assisting at the scene were Mobile Medic Ambulance Service and Waveland Police Department.

Texas man arrested in Toca stabbing

By DENA BISNETTE

Authorities expect to learn today whether a suspect in the capital murder of a Springwood Park man will be extradited from Texas to Mississippi.

Eugene Bertram Willis, 19, of Pasadena, Texas, faces capital murder charges in connection with the stabbing death of Rene J. Toca Jr., 62, of Springwood Park.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, who went to Pasadena Wednesday morning with Investigator Alvin Ladner after Willis was arrested by Texas authorities Tuesday night, said the suspect is cooperating with authorities and "appears favorable" toward extradition.

Willis was being held in the Pasadena City Jail Wednesday morning but was scheduled to be transferred to the Harris County, Texas, jail that afternoon, Peterson said in a long-distance telephone interview.

The sheriff said he and Ladner were planning to remain in Texas until after the hearing, set for Thursday morning, and were helping to search for Toca's car, which was reportedly taken from his residence after the murder.

Peterson said the suspect had told authorities that he left the dark blue 1976 Ford Ranch Wagon Custom 500 parked with the keys inside it near a service station somewhere in Pasadena.

He added that Willis had been a fugitive wanted in Pasadena on a burglary charge and that he had been believed to be in the Hancock County area for about two weeks when the murder occurred.

Peterson said that a potential witness who allegedly saw the suspect leave the Toca residence in the car has been located.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department contacted Texas authorities shortly after the death was discovered Monday afternoon.

Willis was found after authorities staked out a location in the Pasadena area, Peterson added.

He said Willis allegedly tried to evade officers before he was captured.

In addition, Peterson stated that investigators now feel that the murder probably was committed during an attempted burglary or strong-arm robbery.

Toca was found in the bedroom of his residence lying dead in a pool of blood on the floor beside his bed, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

He is believed to have been killed about 3 p.m. Friday and there were signs of a struggle in the house, the sheriff added.

An autopsy by State Medical Examiner Thomas Bennett showed that Toca's death was caused by a stab wound to the neck, Coroner Harold Stiglet reported.

Peterson said the apparent murder weapon, a paring knife, has been recovered.

The sheriff's department was contacted by Toca's brother, a New Orleans resident, who had become concerned when he could not reach Toca by telephone and had come to Hancock County to check on him.

City, county work together to repair Ward One potholes

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bay St. Louis Ward 1 residents probably will not be calling city hall for a while to complain about potholes.

Through a joint project by the city and county representatives is the area, every known pothole in the ward has been filled.

This is a major accomplishment for Councilman Lisa Coward and Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner in a city that is plagued with potholes and puts out tons of asphalt each month for pothole repairs.

Employees from both the city and the county finished up this week in a five-day project to fill every pothole in that area of the city.

The city furnished the equipment for spreading the asphalt and an operator and the county furnished the asphalt and a crew.

Coward said extensive work has also been done on Cedar Ridge Road, Blakemore Street and Engman Avenue.

"There have been several truckloads of clay gravel put on the streets which will provide a good lasting base," Coward added.

Plans are currently underway to overlay Esplanade and Felicity Streets, she said.

For the overlay of these streets the county is providing $30,000 and the city is contributing $7,500.

In preparation for the overlay job, city crews are replacing gas service lines and installing utility taps this week.

Gas Superintendent Charles Feigel said the work is being done earlier than scheduled so the new overlay job would not have to be torn up later to do the work.

Coward said the overlay work should begin in six to eight weeks.

Boat explosion injures pair

By DENA BISNETTE

Two people were injured and two escaped without injury Sunday when a boat engine exploded at the Hwy. 603 bridge over Bayou LaCroix.

Bonnie Ladner, 21, of Lakeshore, sustained injuries to her right leg and Amy Mitchell, 20, of Kiln, received first and second degree burns and were taken to Hancock General Hospital, Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

Two other occupants of the boat, Douglas Ladner, 22, of Lakeshore, and Buddy Stiglet, 25, of Bay St. Louis, were not injured.

The boat was anchored near the Bayou LaCroix Bridge behind Anchor Inn Lounge and had been idling about 15 minutes when flames started coming from under the engine.

The four were attempting to put out the fire when the explosion occurred, Peterson said.

The incident is being investigated by the sheriff's department and Department of Marine Conservation officers.

One arrested, one sought in pipe theft

BY DENA BISNETTE

One suspect has been arrested and another is being sought in connection with a March 3 attempted theft of conduit pipe from a Lakeshore fishing camp.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, Nguyen Tans Cong of 1411 Niagra Street, Bay St. Louis, was been arrested and charged with grand larceny but has been released from the Hancock County Jail on $2,500 bond.

Cong and a second suspect allegedly put the pipe in a pick-up truck and fled Bordages Fish Camp. The two wrecked the truck while being chased by Tommy Bordages, one of the owner-operators of the camp, and the driver fled on foot.

In an unrelated theft, a Metairie, La., man has been jailed on $5,000 bond since Sunday, according to Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong.

Thomas R. Guzman, 25, was charged with grand larceny after he allegedly took $160 from a cash register at Stark's Restaurant in Diamondhead.

School superintendent named junior college head

POPLARVILLE—McComb School Superintendent Dr. Ted J. Alexander is the new president of Pearl River Junior College, succeeding the retiring Marvin R. White.

Alexander was the unanimous selection of the 3,000-student junior college's board of trustees, a spokesman said. The selection ended a five-month search that included 27 applicants.

"We had many fine applicants, but it was the consensus of the board that Dr. Alexander can keep Pearl River in the pioneer position it has always held," said Jim Thrifflie, chairman of the PRC board, which represents Hancock, Pearl River, Lamar, Forrest, Jefferson Davis and Marion counties.

"It is a distinct honor to have the opportunity to be associated with Mississippi's pioneer junior college," Alexander said in accepting the position. "In my 26 years in public education in Mississippi, this is certainly one of the highest (moments) of my personal and professional life."

"I hear good and positive things about this institution and I am aware of the importance of the institution to this geographic area. I am certainly excited about becoming a part of what I consider to be the finest junior college institution in Mississippi."

Alexander, a 1985 selection to OMNI International and its OMNI Publications National Panel of Experts, said retiring President White had done an admirable job in providing leadership for the college. "It is a distinct honor to be selected to follow him."

Louis Magee, president of the McComb Board of Trustees said, "In this time of austere budgets and fiscal responsibilities, I don't know anyone who is more capable and does a better job in these areas than Dr. Alexander."

Alexander, 49, is a native of Morton and a graduate of Millsaps College with both bachelor and master of education degrees.

He received his doctorate of education from USM.

He has been a biology and physical science teacher, football, basketball for the Newton Special Municipal Separate School District before becoming superintendent of schools in McComb in 1976.

Alexander is the past recipient of the Edward J. Ransdale Instructional Television Award, given annually to Mississippi's outstanding school administrator by the Mississippi Library Association.

Terrel Bell, secretary of the U.S. Department of Education, presented Alexander and the McComb Public School Board and officials with formal designation and recognition of McComb High School as a National Model School in November 1983.

He is also a recipient of the 1982 John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts Certificate of Appreciation for contributing to the Arts Education Program in public schools and the 1978 Mississippi Outstanding School Administrator Award, the 1971 Phil Hardin Award and Doctoral Studies Scholarship as Mississippi's Outstanding Young Educator.

Dr. Alexander has a bachelor of arts degree from Millsaps College. In 1964, he received a master of education from Millsaps in administration and guidance.

In 1970, he received his doctor of education degree from the University of Southern Mississippi.

His major was educational administration with emphasis in school law, public school administration and school finance.

Alexander is also a member of professional and honorary organizations and has published papers and made oral presentations nationally.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick uses a combination of photographs and live sittings to reduce the amount of time a subject must commit to the portrait.

She received her art training at the University of New Orleans, University of Florida and the John Howard Sanden Portrait Institute.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick has also taught painting and sculpture at junior college and elementary school levels.

Recent awards have included first and second place ribbons in painting at the Edgewater Mall Tri-State Show in Biloxi.

The artist resides in the Cedar Point area with her husband, architect Kevin Fitzpatrick, and their two children.

A tour of the stage and work area will be available to visitors, as well as displays of vintage posters, photographs and memorabilia of the 40-year history of the theatre.

In addition to the open house, exhibit, and stage tour, the theatre will host a Spring Tailgate Market on the grounds of the theatre featuring many local craftsmen and artists.

According to Little Theatre President Michael Cuevas, "We welcomed more than 400 visitors last year and with beautiful weather we expect 1986 to be a banner year for visitors."

"The Garden Club has spent countless hours in preparation for this event and the theatre is very proud to be a part of the tour," Cuevas added.

"The theatre board invites local citizens to enjoy our open house and celebrate the opening of our 40th season March 27," she said.

Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post No. 77 of Waveland will hold an open house on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The legion's home is located on Coleman Avenue behind Merchants Bank and the public is invited to the open house.

The open house will feature many of the events the Legion and Auxiliary are involved in the community.

Refreshments will be served.

This is National Wildlife Week and we in Hancock County are fortunate to have many species of wildlife in our communities and woodlands.

Bird watching is on the increase and many areas of the county have been declared as Bird Sanctuaries.

This is good, as our wildlife needs to be protected in some areas in order for survival.

On the larger wildlife scale, Hancock County has deer, wild turkey, and semi-wild and wild pigs.

Some folks like to hunt and this helps prevent the over population of species. If a species is over populated in an area, it can cause serious damage to other species.

Bird feeders are popular, as many folks realize the feathered friends need a little help especially during the winter months.

The use of a bird feeder also gives you the enjoyment of seeing many of the species which are native, as well as visitors, at certain times of the year.

Congratulations are in order for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on their decision to participate in a US Army Corps of Engineers shore protection study.

Unless something is done for shore protection, one day Hancock Countians could wake up with the shoreline through the middle of the coastal communities.

The Corps of Engineers study along with the Beachfront Technical Advisory Council's plans should be of a benefit to Hancock County for many years to come.

We have a great asset in our beach and should try and protect it for the future generations of Hancock Countians.

HATTIESBURG'S YOUNG PEOPLE MAKE HISTORY

In my office in Washington, I have a plaque above my desk that reads: "It's hard to be humble when you're from Mississippi."

After participating in a very special event in Washington on March 12, I would add that it's hard to be humble when you're in the presence of Mississippi's young people!

The event was the dedication on the grounds of the U.S. Capitol of a beautiful magnolia—Mississippi's state tree—in honor of our great state.

Late last year, the American history students of Mrs. Margaret Dun: at Blair High School in Hattiesburg learned that Mississippi did not have a tree on the Capitol lawn though each of the 50 states may have their state trees dedicated in memorial to their respective states. At least 18 states already have dedicated memorial trees.

This class, as part of their studies in American government, decided that it would be most appropriate that we have a magnolia tree in Washington commemorating our state.

They contacted me, and I was able to get permission from the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate, with the cooperation of the Architect of the Capitol.

On March 12, we had a very special ceremony in which we dedicated a healthy, green magnolia on the grounds in an area being developed as an arboretum by the Architect of the Capitol.

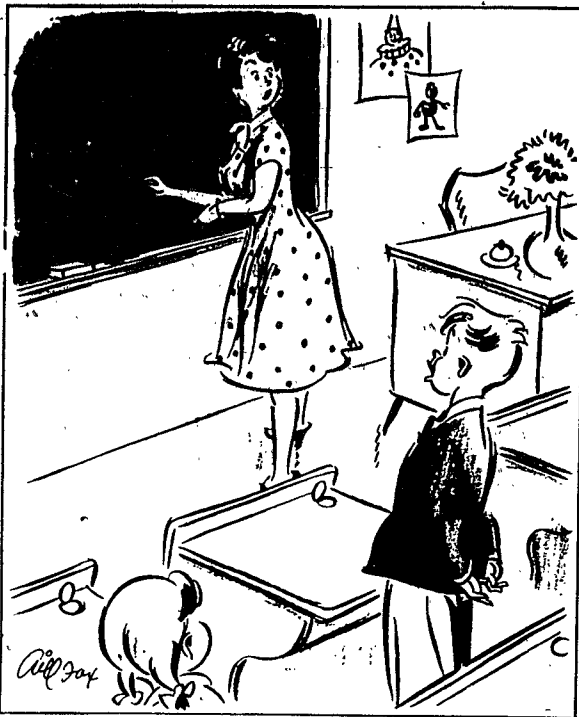

Mississippi's young people distinguish themselves with their enthusiasm to make their futures limitless and to leave their mark on our state.

The Blair High School students, through their initiative, have left a symbol in Washington of the best our state represents. It will be a landmark for Mississippians who come to Washington to see, and a reminder to others of the gracious, friendly folk who sent it.

At our dedication, I recalled the words of Mississippi's own Willie Morris:

"I am a Southerner. I like the feel of these words. I could no more be otherwise than I could shed my outer skin or change the color of my eyes... I love the South because it helps me remember who I am."

Our own Mississippi students made this happen. They determined that a tree was not in Washington representing our state. They asked for the tree, and in so doing, they were a part of making history for our state.

"Which way is clockwise on a digital clock?"

Housekeeping

Week's Summary
from

Mississippi House of Representatives

By Andrew Reese
House Information Officer

JACKSON—The 1986 legislative session is entering its final weeks following House of Representatives' action on such important and controversial issues as uniform school laws, statewide banking, health care reorganization, and home rule for counties.

A 191-page measure to establish more uniformity in public school laws was among more than 60 bills approved last week by the House. A revised version of an earlier Senate measure, it includes a provision to require county supervisors to fund school board requests. Municipal officials already are mandated to levy taxes to fund budgets submitted by city school boards.

Residents of a school district could petition for an election on the increase if the school budget is more than 7 percent above the previous year's budget. The bill was approved 83-36 following defeat of amendments to cut off certain funds by 1993 to school districts with elected rather than appointed superintendents, and to make public kindergartens optional with local school boards.

Statewide banking would be allowed under another House-passed bill if differences between House and Senate versions are settled. The bill, as passed by the House, would do away with a controversial 100-mile limitation and permit banks to open new branches statewide by July 1989. In addition, banks would be allowed to buy or merge with other banks located more than 100 miles away, starting this July. Other provisions would allow regional banking in Mississippi within a period of year.

A revised bill to help cities and counties attract new industry also won House approval last week. The bill would permit issuance of state bonds to provide loans and grants to assist local governments in securing industrial development projects such as the Boeing plant in Greenville and a four-ship Navy base in Pascagoula. The legislation was a revised version of similar bills passed earlier by the House and Senate.

A number of bills involving health care programs won House approval during the past week, including a measure to allow the State Health Department to levy new or increased fees for certain services such as inspection of restaurants and milk plants. Backers said the bill will provide badly needed revenues and help avoid a threatened cutback in some of the services performed by health officials.

Another House-passed bill calls for a reorganization of health care programs in an effort to improve efficiency. The Medicaid program would stay under the Governor's Office but any increase or decrease in benefits would be subject to certain restrictions. The Health Care Commission would be abolished under the measure and its duties shifted to the State Health Department.

The House voted to authorize a new Vulnerable Adults program giving extra protection to adult citizens not able to care for themselves. And bills were approved to upgrade the office of county coroner; provide for registration of non-licensed group care facilities for children; permit closed circuit television or videotaped testimony in some child abuse cases; and provide for classifying municipal and domestic wastewater facilities.

County supervisors would have broader authority to deal with local matters, within specified limits, under a Home Rule bill passed by the House. However, an election on the question of a county-unit system of road management would be required before a county qualified for Home Rule. A Home Rule law was enacted in 1985 for municipalities.

Other bills recently approved by the House would establish a new 10-member board to oversee the state's junior colleges, including the opening of new branches; require county constables to wear uniforms and complete a law enforcement training course; allow school districts to lease school buildings; re-enact the state's anti-racketeering law; provide that a parolee who is convicted of a felony will have his parole automatically revoked.

A proposed constitutional amendment was approved to extend the maximum lease from 25 to 40 years on 18th Section School lands other than forest and agricultural lands.

House members passed bills to make it illegal to have redfish on boats carrying a purse seine, and to protect catfish producers by establishing a fair practices act for processors. The House passed another bill that supporters said would provide extra protection from lawsuits to landowners who permit others to enter their lands for such purposes as hunting, fishing or camping.

Financial troubles continued to plague lawmakers as they prepared for a deadline this week for floor action on appropriations and revenue bills passed earlier in the opposite chamber.

A summary of potential ways to deal with the state's budget problems was unveiled last week in the Mississippi House. The list was suggested as a starting point or alternative plan to get a grip on the critical financial situation without a general tax increase. It contained 43 suggestions where money might be saved or additional funds generated, ranging from changing average daily attendance requirements used in funding schools to authorizing a state lottery.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Once upon a timein Hancock County

March 13, 1986

Letter to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo Newspaper
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Having lived in this county for 35 years I believe Hancock residents do not fully appreciate how good their quality of life is because they have never had bad. I am speaking of fresh and salt water for fishing, swimming and boating. The woods for hunting, camping and for just watching nature. All these things and a lot more are just minutes away from any Hancock resident. Hancock is indeed rich in beauty.

Predictions are that by the year 2,000 our county along with the other coastal counties will show the most growth in Mississippi. What will this new growth bring? It will bring the loss of forest areas, urban sprawl, pollution and tragically people telling their children how good life was when they were young.

County wide zoning is the only means to keep Hancock the way you know it now for your children and their children. It seems that most people are against zoning until one day they wake up to find a building built on the land next to them altered in a way they feel is not to its best usage. Sadly to say nothing can be done today except move. Zoning provides for planned orderly growth. Zoning laws are proposed and decided upon by the people.

It's time to wake up Hancock county! The clock is ticking. The proposed aircraft plant at Stennis will create many problems that the county has no laws for today. These coming problems are best dealt with by strong county wide zoning. The plant will bring more people, more clearing of wooded areas and more pollution problems in a county that already has overwhelming problems. If we act now we can avoid hearing someone telling their children how good life was once upon a time in Hancock county.

Sincerely yours,
Andres Calandria

Eyes on Mississippi

by

JACKSON—For the first time since Mississippians amended their constitution in 1968 to limit sessions of the Legislature to 90 days, it appears almost certain lawmakers will have to extend the current meeting for 30 days, and perhaps more.

When the limited, annual sessions amendment was enacted, a provision was inserted for lawmakers to go beyond the 90-day limit only by a two-thirds vote of both houses, and for segments of 30 days.

Several times in recent years, lawmakers have found themselves having to extend the session for a couple days on paper to get around the long-standing constitutional prohibition against passing any revenue bill in the last five days of the session.

While the 30-day extension has been invoked on those occasions, however, lawmakers have actually not remained in session more than a day or two over the scheduled adjournment date.

Now, with the scheduled April 6 adjournment only a little over two weeks away, the Legislature is no closer to resolving the monumental budget crisis than it was when lawmakers arrived in Jackson Jan. 7.

Virtually no one around the legislative halls believes any sort of a satisfactory solution is going to be reached by April 6. Some are talking in terms of having to remain in session until June before a viable plan can be put in place to prevent budget cuts that would virtually destroy many valuable governmental services.

Lawmakers won't dare take a chance on adjourning the 1986 session on time with the idea that Gov. Bill Allain will call them back into special session as was done in 1984. Allain has put his promise in stone that he will not call a special session, and legislators are taking him at his word.

Anyone who knows anything about state government could have pretty well foreseen back in December that a colossal breakdown in state government was in prospect unless a great deal more money was found some place to shore up the state's ailing fiscal structure.

What made the problem worse is that almost every service the state provides was already being operated on a barebones budget going back for four years. Add to that the fact that the long-awaited public kindergartens, the only major new program instituted by the state in 12 years, came on line and lawmakers had too strong a commitment to delay it any longer.

But no one, neither Governor Allain nor the legislative leadership, came into the 1986 session with any sort of a plan to deal with what lawmakers are now facing.

Certainly, above all, somebody should have worked out a contingency revenue plan based on tax equity to have in readiness to go with selective, rather than across-the-board, budget cuts. Nobody in a leadership position would even admit additional taxes were inevitable to survive the crisis.

Instead, all that has happened so far on Capitol Hill is a slaughterhouse approach to budget cutting that butchers every state program alike, regardless of how valuable it is.

The going rate of cuts in the Legislature has been 21 percent. Some such as the University Medical Center have gone as high as 24 percent.

Mississippi State University President Donald Zacharias who has been in higher education administration dealing with legislative budgeting in three other states before coming to Mississippi, says he knows of no instance in the country where state senior colleges have had to endure cuts as high as 21 percent.

Meantime, as state government services teeter on the brink of disaster, the Legislature is caught in its self-made strait-jacket of legislative deadlines which in this session is strangling any freedom of movement to deal innovatively with the budget crisis, or attend to critically needed general legislation.

The February filibuster by black members in the House who were incensed over the treatment of a bill proposing a holiday for Dr. Martin Luther King pointed up the gigantic flaws in the system of deadlines instituted in the early 1970s after limited sessions began. Some 119 bills were left to die on the House calendar for lack of floor action by Feb. 13.

The deadlines, which have the effect of killing legislation without any direct vote, are supposed to be based on a study made by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University in 1969.

But the schedule of deadlines and procedural rules now in effect in the Legislature bear little resemblance to the Eagleton recommendations.

What has been concocted by the Old Guard leadership is a system which allows little chance of survival for bills other than those in which the leadership is interested.

If the session is extended 30 days, then there's a good chance the deadlines will no longer be valid.

Legislative Update

Week of March 10

By Rosa Lee H. Jones

House leaders came up with a comprehensive budget-cutting plan last week, but complaints from rank and file members that they weren't consulted may hinder the chances of the $121 million spending cut.

One part of the plan to bail the state out of its fiscal crisis, closing two universities and two professional schools, died in the House Appropriations Committee on Thursday.

H. L. "Sonny" Meredith, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, asked university presidents to come up with their own plan to consolidate duplicated programs and close some schools. Meredith's meeting with the presidents was one of a series scheduled with agency heads on the legislative leaders' budget-cutting plan.

Meanwhile, the House passed a Uniform School Bill that gives supervisors no option but to approve county school districts' budgets, placing them on the same footing as municipal districts. Differences with an already-passed Senate bill must be worked out before it can be sent to Gov. Bill Allain to be signed into law.

An amendment to the Uniform School Bill that would have made public kindergartens, scheduled to start next year, an optional program, was defeated. Another amendment that was defeated would have required counties to appoint school superintendents, rather than elect, by 1993 in order to receive funding.

State-wide banking won House approval Tuesday. The bill lifts the restriction on branches more than 100 miles from bank headquarters and allows bank mergers and new branches. It has been sent back to the Senate, which passed a different version.

Grandparents could win the legal right to visit their grandchildren after the Senate gave its OK to a House-passed bill. Existing law says a grandparent has no visiting rights if a child has been adopted. If one of the legal parents is a biological parent, the grandparent can petition the court for visitation rights.

Each county will have to let the voters decide on whether to adopt the county-unit system of road maintenance under a House measure. Counties also get home-rule, which allows them to do anything not specifically prohibited by law except raise taxes, under the bill. Municipal governments received home-rule last year.

A board to govern junior colleges was created by the House, but rejected adding spending limits, a construction freeze or forcing the new board to cooperate with the College Board.

The Senate gave the nod to a House bill to permit videotaped testimony of sexually abused children. The upper-chamber also approved a bill to require parental consent before a minor has an abortion. The House had earlier passed a bill requiring only parental notification before abortions.

Consideration of the rest of the House leaders' budget cutting plan, including recommendations that increase teacher-pupil ratios and taking $50 million from the Highway Department, and restricting State-Air road construction, will likely occupy much of the coming week's legislative agenda.

VOTING RECORDS HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES THROUGH MARCH 14

SB2188

This bill deleted the one-year limit on the attendant care program for handicapped Mississippians. Yea, 115; Nay, 7; Phillips, Yea.

sent, 0; Present, 1; Phillips, Nay.

SB2685

This bill increases the fees for State Board of Health services. Yea, 78; Nay, 40; Absent, 0; Present, 4; Phillips, Yea.

SB2311

This bill permits state-wide banking. Yea, 102; Nay, 19; Absent, 0; Present, 1; Phillips, Nay.

SB2811

This bill requires the registration of religiously affiliated residential child-care facilities. Yea, 87; Nay, 30; Absent, 5; Phillips, Yea.

SB2381

This bill requires that counties have an equal number of constables and justice court judges. Yea, 101; Nay, 11; Absent, 10; Phillips, Yea.

SB2534

The bill establishing a junior college governing board passed 117-3 with 2 absent.

Voting nay were Crawford, Wertz and Hall. Absent were Buelow and Sheppard.

SB2117

This bill was the uniform school code. Among several amendments that were proposed, two were significant: They were both defeated by the parliamentary move of being placed on the table.

The first would have allowed school districts to postpone implementing the kindergarten program. A yeas vote signified opposition to postponing kindergarten. Yea, 82; Nay, 37; Absent, 3; Phillips, Yea.

This amendment would have made the position of superintendent of education an appointive position by the year 1993. A yeas vote indicated opposition to appointing the superintendent. Yea, 67; Nay, 51; Absent, 4; Phillips, Yea.

Final passage of the bill. Yea, 83; Nay, 36; Absent, 3; Phillips, Yea.

This bill would have allowed meritorious earned time for certain offenders who were serving life terms. It failed. Yea, 23; Nay, 24; Absent and not voting, 5; G. Taylor (46), Nay; M. Smith (47), Yea.

Gerald Ford is guest speaker at 'Farmer of the Year' banquet

Former President Gerald R. Ford will be guest speaker at Mississippi's first annual "Farmer of the Year" awards banquet, according to an announcement by Mississippi Network, sponsor of the event.

The banquet, to be held at Mississippi State University on March 21, will honor nominees for the "Farmer of the Year" award from various agricultural categories. Names have been submitted by a number of major state agricultural organizations, including the Mississippi Cattlemen's Association, Mississippi Soybean Association, Mississippi Egg Marketing Board and Catfish Farmers of Mississippi.

In order to be eligible for the award, according to criteria established by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, a farmer must live in Mississippi and earn at least two-thirds of his income from some type of farming operation located in Mississippi.

As stated in a proclamation signed last week by Governor Allain, which designated the week of March 16 through 21 as "Agriculture Appreciation Week" and Friday, March 21 as "Farmer of the Year Day," agriculture is the number one industry in the state, creating jobs for over 250,000 Mississippians.

In 1985, Mississippi's 48,000 farms had a total production value of over $2,900,000,000, and Mississippi farmers were number one in the U.S. in the production of catfish, number three in cotton, number five in broilers, and number eight in soybeans.

Jim Buck Ross, commissioner of agriculture and commerce, has joined with Mississippi Network and other cooperating agribusiness groups and business sponsors in establishing and supporting this annual award.

These groups include the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, and the Delta Council.

'Aging Well' seminar offered

'Aging Well: Healthy Living for Older Americans' is a free seminar offered by Biloxi Regional Medical Center and set for 10 a.m. Friday, March 28, in the Biloxi Regional Cafeteria Sunporch. The seminar is open to the public, and is geared to those 60 or more years of age.

Seminar topics include Aging Well—It's Up to You, Healthy Habits and Health Care, Nutrition and Exercise and Activity. Refreshments will be served and displays of interest will be set up.

Registration is set for 9:45-10 a.m. in the Cafeteria Sunporch. Pre-registration is requested by calling 432-1571, ext. 188. The seminar is a program of Biloxi Regional's New Beginning Club.

We all grow older, that's a fact of life. This free seminar offers practical tips for healthy living geared to the older American.

Bay kindergarten location changed for utility access

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Bay St. Louis School Board has unanimously approved a proposal to change the location of a planned kindergarten building at Waveland Elementary School.

Architect Jules LaGarde submitted the proposal Monday night and said changing the building's location from the west side to the east side of the existing school would save money and avoid cutting the campus in half.

The move will reduce the amount of pipeline to the school's sewage lift station because the pipe can be laid in a straight line, the architect explained.

The change in location also presents a similar situation with the electrical connection, he said.

The front of the new building, a residential type structure with a metal roof and a large number of windows, will probably be constructed with its front wall aligned on the same plane as the front wall of the existing building.

The existing parking and bus loading facilities can be used or a separate facility may be constructed at the side of the kindergarten building.

Construction of ramps for handicapped students would also be more convenient.

Through the new placement of the building, the kindergarten students would also be provided with a separate play area.

LaGarde added that he plans to have the bid specifications ready for advertisement on March 27 with an April 17 opening day.

Opening the bids on April 17 will allow 133 days for construction.

"We're still pushing it and the bid specifications will have to include a time limit for the project, but a similar structure in Biloxi was recently completed in 120 days," he commented.

In other business, the board:

—Heard a report from Superintendent J.D. McCullough explaining that the district has delayed its recommendations of teachers for the next school term until the legislature determines how many proposed budget cuts will be implemented;

—Approved recommendations for changes in personnel policy recommended by a faculty and staff committee;

—Elected officers, naming Diboll as president and Penrose as secretary, and —Appointed Penrose and D.L. Carter as board representatives on the district's staff development committee.

Homemakers Council offering Nature program

On Wednesday, March 26, at 1 p.m. at the Waveland Library, the Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council is sponsoring a program on tree identification and establishing a backyard habitat for birds and small animals.

Lee Taylor, county agent, will demonstrate making squirrel nests from tires and blue bird nesting boxes. Daney Jackson, 4-H youth agent, will discuss tree identification of common local trees.

David Watts, county forester, will present a short slide program on famous Mississippi trees.

The public is invited to this free program which should be enjoyable and enlightening.

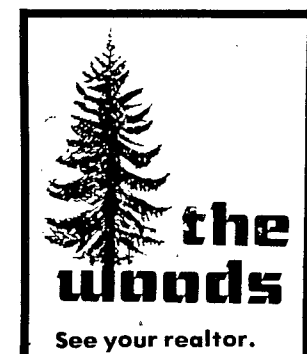

LEGISLATIVE PAGE—Karen Ann Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nellus "Speedy" Rhodes Jr. of Jackson and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Daley of Pass Christian and Mrs. Nellus C. Rhodes Sr. of Bay St. Louis and the late Judge Nellus C. Rhodes Sr., is serving as a legislative page to Speaker C. B. Newman during the current session of the Mississippi House of Representatives.

Martin Marietta reduces Michoud work force at

NEW ORLEANS—Martin Marietta will reduce its work force at the Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans by up to 600 to 700 by April 11 as a result of slowed production of Space Shuttle external fuel tanks.

The reduced production was directed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in conjunction with the temporary suspension of space Shuttle flights.

The company is actively pursuing other work for affected employees including assignments at other Martin Marietta locations.

Those employees affected are involved in a range of manufacturing, administrative, technical and engineering disciplines. This reduction will stabilize the work force at about 4,000.

Richard M. Davis, vice president and general manager of Martin Marietta Michoud Aerospace, said the company is establishing an outplacement office where clerical assistance, telephones, photocopying and other services will be provided for the use of those affected.

"We are taking a number of steps to assist those who are affected to find other employment," Davis said.

"We have the very highest regard for these trained and skilled employees and are offering transfers to other Martin Marietta operations where there is a need for specific skills," he added.

"Other local and national companies are also being invited to participate in the placement of those affected," Davis said.

Waveland reminds residents of trash collection rules

BY DENA BISNETTE
Spring cleaning weather has arrived and with it has come the problem of trash.

The City of Waveland has been readvertising its policy concerning the collection of trash and debris this week because officials have started receiving complaints concerning trash in city streets.

Trash and debris that will be collected includes items like litter, limbs, stumps, trees and leaves but not household garbage.

Household garbage is collected on a regular schedule and falls under a separate ordinance.

Trees and limbs should be cut into sections no more than six feet long and bundled together with wire or ropes.

Anything weighing more than 60 pounds or more than eight inches in diameter can not be picked up, according to the ordinance.

Trash should be placed on the right-of-way in front of an individual's residence or lot, but not in the road or street.

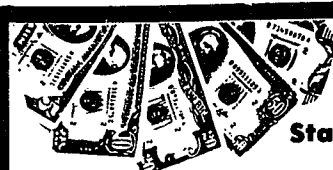

Caring for children in disaster is topic of Task Force event

Mississippi Coast Interfaith Disaster Task Force, Inc. is sponsoring Disaster Child Care training May 2-3 at the Beauvoir United Methodist Church by the Cooperating Disaster Child Care Program of the Church of the Brethren, New Windsor, Maryland.

Volunteers who can help care for children following a disaster at emergency centers, Sunday School teachers, Day Care workers and any interested individuals may contact Adrienne Dedeaux or Pat Langlinalis at 435-0837 concerning registration, or write Disaster Child Care Training, c/o Interfaith Disaster Task Force, P. O. Box 37, Biloxi, MS 39533.

The 24-hour session which teaches volunteers to help children deal with the emotional impact of a disaster begins Friday, May 2, and continues through 6 p.m. Saturday, May 3.

Guidelines for 1985 IRA deduction listed

As taxpayers complete their 1985 Federal income tax Form 1040 or Form 1040A and deduct contributions to an Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA), there are guidelines to follow, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Contributions made to an IRA in 1985 that were deducted on a 1984 Form 1040 or Form 1040A should not be included on the 1985 tax return. Contributions made to an IRA by April 15, 1986, for 1985 should be included in the IRA contributions when figuring an IRA deduction for 1985.

A single taxpayer may contribute to an IRA and deduct up to $2,000 or the amount of his or her annual compensation, whichever is less. Married taxpayers who both work and file jointly may also contribute up to $2,000 to each of their IRAs and deduct the total amount contributed.

If only one spouse is working, a separate IRA may be set up for the nonworking spouse, and up to $2,250 may be contributed to the IRAs, and deducted on their tax form. Equal contributions need not be made to the two IRAs, but no more than $2,000 can be contributed to either IRA for the year.

Beginning in 1985, all taxable alimony and separate maintenance payments received under certain divorce or separation instruments are considered earned income for purposes of the IRA deduction.

To figure the IRA deduction, a taxpayer should generally use the IRA worksheet provided in the Form 1040 and Form 1040A tax packages. If a taxpayer's allowable IRA deduction is less than the IRA contribution for the year and the excess is not withdrawn before the date (including extension) the tax return is due, a Form 5329 must be filed and a tax for the excess contributions must be paid.

More information about the IRA deduction is available in the tax package.

SUMMONS

CAUSE NO. 18,443

TO: THE HEIRS AT LAW OF EDWIN F. HERBESZ, JR., DECEASED (other than Petitioners)

You have been made defendant in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Mercedes Sanarens Herbesz Deicidue, Leonard F. Herbesz and Timothy Herbesz, Petitioners, whose address is 4390 Nottingham Drive, New Orleans, LA 70127 and 2104 Columbia, Harvey, LA, respectively.

The Petition filed against you has initiated a civil action alleging that Mercedes Sanarens Herbesz Deicidue, Leonard F. Herbesz and Timothy Herbesz are the sole heirs at law of Edwin F. Herbesz, Jr., deceased, and seeking legal adjudication of the heirs of Edwin F. Herbesz, Jr., deceased.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a copy of a written Answer either admitting or denying each allegation in the Petition to Favre, Jr., Petitioners' Attorney, whose address is P.O. Drawer 71, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE 20th DAY OF MARCH, 1988, WHICH IS THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS SUMMONS. IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT SO MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE RELIEF DEMAND IN THE PETITION.

You must also file the original of your Answer with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time after said date.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE AND OFFICIAL SEAL THIS 18th day of March, 1988.

Many of the world's great rice dishes such as the Creole-Cajun Jambalaya, the pilau or "purloo" of Charleston, the paella of Spain, the Arroz Con Pollo of South America and Mexico came into being through thrifty housewives' efforts to stretch the seafood or meat or chicken on hand into a filling main dish and to make use of whatever was available.

I like the way Mexican and Spanish cooks combine sausage and chicken, cooked along with rice; for the spiciness of the sausage and the delicacy of the chicken make a memorable meal. Here's:

SAUSAGE AND CHICKEN, SPANISH STYLE

2 1/2 lbs. chicken parts
1 lb. sausage links, hot or mild, according to your preference, or a combination of the two
2 Tbsp. olive oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green (bell) pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup uncooked rice
1 cup tiny green peas
1 cup dry white wine
Dash hot pepper sauce

Pepper the chicken pieces liberally, using cayenne along with a bit of black pepper. Sauté pieces in the olive oil until a nice brown. Meanwhile, in another skillet, cook the sausage links. (I usually steam mine in a bit of water first, in a covered pan, of course, then uncover and finish cooking.)

I sauté the onions, peppers, and garlic along with the sausage as it slowly cooks, add the browned chicken pieces to the skillet, then splash the wine into the pan, swirling and scraping the delicious "burnings" or particles from the bottom. Add two cups of boiling water (or chicken stock for extra flavor) along with the rice, as well as a generous dash of hot pepper sauce, and simmer until the liquid is almost absorbed.

Add the green peas, then spoon the whole business onto a large platter, arranging the sausage atop the rice mixture, with the chicken pieces along the sides.

Often garnish this dish with sliced onion, olive oil, and sometimes add chopped peanuts as well. (Six servings)

Spring Pilgrimage begins Thursday in Pass Christian

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs' 39th spring pilgrimage is underway this week and next with residences, gardens and historic places open for viewing. The Coast schedule includes Thursday, March 20, Pass Christian; Friday, March 21, homes of Gulfport; Saturday, March 22, Biloxi; Sunday, March 23, Pascagoula, Moss Point and Gautier; Monday, March 24, the Port of Gulfport; Tuesday, March 25, Beauvoir; Wednesday, March 26, NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories and the Hancock County Welcome Center; Thursday, March 27, Bay St. Louis; and Friday, March 28, Diamondhead. Eleven points of interest in Pass Christian will be open for viewing Thursday from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Pilgrimage chairmen in Pass Christian are Mrs. R.P. McKay and Mrs. Kay Chapman. Stops on the Pass tour include: Hancock Bank Annex, 257 East Scenic Drive, incorporates the historic Nelson Hotel. A ribbon-cutting is planned for 10 a.m., and there will be registration, coffee and an antiques display from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The Town Library, 221 East Scenic Drive, will be open from 10 a.m. until noon. The library is believed to be the oldest on the Coast, and though account books date back only to 1893, the library was in service before that date. It was visited by President Woodrow Wilson during the winter of 1913-14 when he lived in Pass Christian at the Dixie White House, and the library contains many first editions.

St. Paul's Catholic Church, 151 East Scenic Drive, may be visited from 10 a.m. until noon. This modern structure was built to replace the historic one destroyed by Hurricane Camille in 1969. It serves as a beacon for many seamen, and a shrine to Our Lady of Guadalupe is situated on the east side of the church.

Pass Christian-Harrison County Library, 111 Hiern Ave., will be open from 11 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. It was built after Hurricane Camille with local funds and contributions of money and books from across the nation, and the grounds were landscaped by the Pass Christian Garden Club and Friends of the Library. An arts and crafts exhibit will be on view at the library.

Trinity Episcopal Church, West Beach and Church Street, was built as a duplicate of the 1849 original which was destroyed by Hurricane Camille. A focal point is needlework done by a group of New Orleans women as a tribute to those who lost their lives to Camille. North of the church is Live Oak Cemetery, the burial site of Frances Parke Lewis Butler, great-granddaughter of Martha Washington and grand-niece of George Washington.

Le Belle Art art center, Davis Avenue and Second Street, will welcome visitors from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Mrs. Bertha Giani, known for her paintings, sculpture and other creations, has transformed this older home into a charming art center.

War Memorial Park, 321 East Scenic Drive, features a Victorian gazebo. The park was created after World War II to honor veterans who had given their lives for the United States during the period from World War I to the end of World War II. Bicentennial markers reflect the Revolutionary War.

V.F.W. Post, 401 East Scenic Drive, is the home of Cecil R. Ruddock Post 5931. Ruddock lost his life aboard the U.S.S. Arizona at Pearl Harbor. The building dates to 1852, and it became known as The Trade Palace, belonging to Charles Rhodes who was Mayor of Pass Christian and quartermaster of Fort Henry.

Wildflower Garden, Menge Avenue, approximately one mile north of East Scenic Drive, will be open from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. It is a permanent conservation project of the Pass Christian Garden Club, and it has won a first place award from the National Council of Garden Clubs.

Pineville Presbyterian Church, corner of Menge Avenue and Dale Lane, approximately 1½ miles north of East Scenic Drive, will welcome visitors from 1-3:30 p.m. The first church at this site was completed in 1878 at a cost of $500. It was destroyed by fire in 1917; however, the new church was completed the following year, and it contains materials, a bell, the pulpit Bible, stained glass windows, two pulpit chairs and other items from the First Presbyterian Church of Pass Christian which was destroyed by a hurricane in 1915.

The home of Mrs. Sally Burk, Pineville area of Menge Avenue, was built about 1925. It is a large Spanish style two-story home on Bayou Portage, and its features include a dramatic staircase and a solarium. The grounds contain many large oaks and are surrounded by an ornamental iron and cement fence. Tea will be served here from 2:30-4:30 p.m.

Bay school board receives anonymous criticism of Oge'

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis School Board is investigating anonymous allegations against Roger D. Oge', recently named the district's new superintendent.

Copies of an anonymous letter were distributed to board members, Monday night and a special board meeting has been called for 7 p.m. Thursday for a report on the investigation of the matter, Board President Betty Diboll said.

Newly-elected board member Linda Penrose delayed adjourning Monday's meeting for a few minutes to publicly address the matter of the letter.

The letter was handwritten and had an Alexandria, La., postmark. It contained a clipping from an unidentified newspaper that had been punctuated with handwritten circles and exclamation points.

The letter stated in part, "We in Louisiana are very happy to let you enjoy his educational escapades—I know you will too, eventually! Just keep him in Mississippi(!)!"

Penrose termed the remarks in the letter "not too complimentary" and said she had also been questioned regarding the new superintendent's administrative experience.

The job description the board and superintendent search committee had put together while soliciting resumes had stated that the position required five years of administrative experience.

Penrose said she had been told that Oge' has no administrative experience other than the current school year, during which he has served as superintendent of the LaSalle Parish Schools.

PILGRIMAGE LUNCHEON SITE—The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis will be open to the public for luncheon by prepaid, advanced reservation from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, March 27 to accommodate visitors on the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's 1986 Spring Pilgrimage tour of the city. Chamber seeks exhibitors for annual show

The Jackson County Area Chamber of Commerce is seeking exhibitors for its 12th Annual Arts and Crafts Show to be held on Saturday, May 3, at the Beach Park in Pascagoula.

The show is open to anyone who makes their own work. Last year's show was very successful with over 150 artists and craftsmen participating.

Thousands of coast residents came to browse and buy from a wide selection of fine works of art.

The exhibitors entered the show from all the Gulf Coast States, as well as many from Mississippi.

Food, entertainment, and children's activity will highlight the day's program. No admission is charged to the public for attending.

Persons interested in exhibiting should contact the Jackson County Area Chamber of Commerce at P. O. Drawer P, Pascagoula, Mississippi 39567 or call 601-762-3391 to enter. An exhibitor charge of $25 will be required in advance.

NEIGHBORHOOD GROUP ELECTS—Garden Island Community Association's officers include, front from left, Anna Brehm, treasurer (re-elected); Leta Matthews, secretary; Lillian Alberes, vice-president; Arthur Covillion Sr., president (re-elected); and back row from left, Bubba Williams, board member (re-elected); Chris Williams, board member; Lester Alberes, board member (re-elected). A general meeting of Garden Island Community Association is planned Saturday at 3 p.m. at East Hancock Firehouse. Members and anyone eligible to be a member may meet the new officers and hear guest speaker Supervisor James Travira. A door prize will be awarded and refreshments served after meeting.

DEVOTED OUTDOORSMAN—Coach J. Larry Ladner prepares for the upcoming 20-day turkey-hunting season, which begins March 22, by reading his shotgun and turkey-caller. The assistant professor of athletic administration and coaching at USM says choosing between his two first loves — basketball and turkey hunting — is often a difficult decision.

Professor of athletics devoted outdoorsman

By Sharon Ward

USM Public Relations

HATTIESBURG—Taking his wife turkey-hunting was an ideal way to spend a silver anniversary for Coach J. Larry Ladner of Hattiesburg.

It's having to choose between his two loves — basketball and turkey-hunting — that continually poses a problem for the Hancock County native, who has been an assistant professor of athletic administration and coaching at the University of Southern Mississippi for the past 15 years.

A devoted outdoorsman, Ladner claims spare-time outlets of fishing and reading in addition to his first two choices.

"I hunt just about anything that can be hunted," Ladner said, pointing out his museum-like den walls, covered with memorabilia.

"It's just difficult making the choice sometimes," he added.

Ladner was a basketball coach at Picayune Memorial High School before joining the USM faculty. There, he boosted his career by coaching the Maroon Tide into a state basketball power. His teams won scores of in-season tournaments in addition to a South Big Eight Conference championship, district championships, a South Mississippi championship and a second place finish for the overall state championship.

During his 11 seasons as head coach at Picayune, Ladner established himself as one of the more successful coaches in Mississippi prep history, posting a record of 253 wins and 82 losses.

"Although I was born in Picayune — but lived most of my earlier years in Kiln, graduating from high school there in 1955 — I still feel like Picayune is 'going home,'" Ladner pointed out. Ladner's mother, Mrs. Earl E. Ladner Sr., still lives in Kiln.

He met his wife-to-be, the former Peggy Ann Willoughby of Poplarville, while attending Pearl River Junior College for two years before transferring to Louisiana College to complete his bachelor's degree in May of 1960. The two were married in 1960, and the family grew to include children Pam, Kim, Jay and Stewart.

All the members of the Ladner family have learned to "grin and bear" the driving force in Ladner.

"I made sure the trip didn't last too far into the day," Ladner noted of his anniversary turkey hunting stint. The trip netted one turkey and a surprise for Peggy — her picture in the local newspaper's outdoor column.

Ladner said his sons also are outdoorsmen, taking part in basketball, baseball and football activities at USM, where Jay is a sophomore, and Oak Grove High School, where Stewart is now a sophomore.

Both Pam and Kim, Ladner noted, are advancing their careers in Jacksonville, Fla., located near Peggy's sister.

Peggy has been employed by the USM Division of Lifelong Learning as office manager for some 13 years, Ladner said.

Since coming to USM, Ladner earned his doctorate in 1969 and has served as a clinician throughout the southeastern United States. He is in demand to speak at clinics in this country and abroad each year.

For the past 10 years, Ladner has directed a successful basketball coaching seminar on the USM campus, an event that has grown to be one of the largest of its kind in the South.

Ladner also coordinates an annual turkey-hunting seminar that attracts individuals from across the country each year. More than 200 attended the recent March 1 seminar, which offered new attractions such as a Jake and Jenny youth session and a Barq's Rootbeer-sponsored, turkey-calling contest and gobbling contest.

Ladner takes sports seriously, just as he approaches his instructing duties.

He said his teaching extends beyond the covers of a textbook — respecting the uniqueness of students and assisting individuals in their pursuit of an education.

"I never take for granted that a student knows anything," Ladner explained. "And I always explain why, an integral key to getting students motivated," he added.

USM back in NCAA good graces

HATTIESBURG—After struggling with NCAA-related problems in recent years, the University of Southern Mississippi has been given a clean bill of health by the athletic governing body.

The latest action, in the form of a letter from the NCAA's enforcement division to university president Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, says in part, "This is to advise you that the University of Southern Mississippi has been restored to full rights and privileges of NCAA membership."

"The university's expressed commitment to compliance with NCAA regulations is appreciated."

Dr. Lucas welcomed the latest development, saying, "We are very happy to receive this good news indicating that the university is in the proper relationship with this important organization.

"It is obvious that the NCAA is convinced that all of those involved with athletics at USM are committed to a harmonious relationship with the NCAA."

Those sentiments were echoed by athletic director Roland Dale who said, "We are pleased to be restored to all rights and privileges of the NCAA. The last few years have been long and trying ones for everyone associated with Southern Mississippi athletics. We now look forward to putting the past behind us as we look toward a bright and successful future."

Tigers take first district victory

The Bay High Tigers racked up their first conference and district win in baseball Monday, defeating East Central 12 to 4 at Hurley.

Trace McRaney was credited with the win, pitching 15 strikeouts and allowing only four hits and three bases on balls.

Brian Laneaux and Jesse Logan each contributed three hits in four times at bat for the Tigers.

Laneaux had one triple, one double and four RBI and Logan had two doubles and two RBI.

Trace McRaney, Stace McRaney and Craig Breland were each two for four with one RBI each. Mutakabir Shabazz was two for five with two RBI and Jeffery Smith was one for three with one RBI.

The Tigers had a total of 36 times at bat with 12 runs and 16 hits.

Score by innings was 0-0-1-5-1-5-0 for Bay High and 0-0-0-4-0-1 for East Central.

The victory raised Bay's record to four wins and two losses.

The Tigers play their second conference and district game tonight at Vancleave. The junior varsity game is set for 5 p.m. with the varsity game following at 7 p.m.

News Brief

VOLLEY BALL TOURNAMENT

Gulfview Booster Club is sponsoring a volleyball tournament Saturday, March 22, at 4 p.m. at the school gym for 15-year-olds and above. Mixed teams entry fee is $1 per person, pre-registration required. Call Karen Ladner, 487-4047.

In the tournament as last year, but the teams will be more evenly matched," says USM women's coach Helen Grant. "Louisiana Tech and McNeese were one and two last year, so they should be tough again, but I expect USM to be in the top three this year."

The tournament will conclude with the finals in both divisions on Saturday.

Golden Eagles to open spring grid practice Friday

Spring football practice starts Friday, March 21, at the University of Southern Mississippi with the Golden Eagles facing what head coach Jim Carmody terms a "new set of problems."

The Eagles will get in 19 practices prior to the April 26 Black and Gold Spring Game which will count as the final session of the 20 allowed by NCAA rules. The spring game is set for 2 p.m. in Roberts Stadium.

The workout schedule for the spring shows 3:30 p.m. sessions each Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 9:15 a.m. drill each Saturday. No workouts are scheduled for March 28, 29 and 31 when students will be off campus for the Easter holidays.

Carmody listed major goals for the spring as determining a two-deep both offensively and defensively, installing base offenses and defenses, concentrating on toughness with a lot of hard work and evaluation of the younger players as they compete with the older players, and work on the kicking game.

Says Carmody, "Hopefully when we finish with spring work we will have a definite idea of our starters and backups as we approach the coming season."

That coming season also will be a factor in spring work. "While we will practice the same way we have in the past with the same goals of strengthening ourselves, replacing people who have graduated and getting an overall view of our offense, defense and kicking game," says Carmody, "I think the thing that we certainly have to be cognizant of is next year's schedule which is tougher than it has been in past years."

"Therefore it has to be a more demanding spring, from all of us, coaches and players."

As one of the problems associated with the schedule Carmody points out that while much of the Golden Eagle fan attention is already being focused on such 1986 opponents as Texas A&M, Florida State, Alabama and Kentucky, the opening game of the season is against Northeast Louisiana, a team that went 6-5 last season but also a team that has 20 of 22 starters back.

Back to the "problems" area, Carmody says, "Each spring you have different problems to solve, and this spring it's trying to find replacements in the defensive line and offensively at tight end where we lost two of the three top players."

Offensively, the Eagles will have eight of 11 starters returning, losses including tight end Robert Ray Stallings, guard Ken Bentley and quarterback Robert Duckworth. On the other side of the ball, losses include four of the five front people, and the two cornerbacks, leaving only five returning starters. The losses include cornerbacks Bobo Harris and James Cooper, defensive end Greg Dampier, and down linemen Fred Baskin and Kip Smith (T) and noseguard Tracy Oakley.

On the plus side Carmody lists his coaching staff, which will be returning intact for the first time since he took over as head coach. "This gives us the opportunity to become more familiar with each other and the players and the players to become more familiar with the coaches and have a better idea of what is expected of them," says Carmody.

USM Invitational begins Friday

The 25th annual USM Invitational Tennis Tournament, second of two major tournaments on campus, begins March 21 on the campus of the University of Southern Mississippi.

Defending champion USM will find stiff competition in the men's division, with 11 teams entered: Delta State, William Carey, Alcorn State, Jackson State, Spring Hill, Mississippi College, West Florida, Okaloosa Walton, Arkansas State, and Mobile College.

Teams entered in the women's division include McNeese State, West Florida, Okaloosa Walton, UNO, Louisiana Tech, Judson College, Delta State, Grambling, Alcorn State, Arkansas State, and USM, a fourth place finisher last year.

Conservation's BMR to activate reserve officers organization

After several months of preparations the Law Enforcement Division of the Bureau of Marine Resources is now ready to activate a Reserve Unit of that organization.

Chief Inspector Jerry Gollott has stated that applications will be available at the Biloxi Office of the Bureau, located at 1201 East Bayview in Biloxi, starting April 1. Gollott pointed out that there would be a deadline for the applications to be filled out and returned to his office. The deadline would be April 15.

There are several qualifications a perspective reservist must meet to become a reservist recruit, most important of these are listed for interested person's information:

1. Reservist must be 21 years of age or older;
2. Must be a high school graduate or its equivalent;
3. Must be in good physical condition;
4. Must have a Mississippi Driver's License;
5. Must be in good standing in his

6. Must be available for training and duty;
7. Must never have been convicted of a felony;
8. Must not be a member of any law enforcement agency, or security agency, full time or part time, regular or reserve and/or auxiliary, nor a member of Civil Defense;
9. Can not be an immediate family member of an Enforcement Officer of the Department of Wildlife Conservation, Bureau of Marine Resources.

Applicants must have one or more of the following:

1. An honorable discharge or honorable separation certificate from a branch of the U.S. Military Service; or
2. Three years of responsible post-high school work experience that requires the ability to deal effectively with the general public; or
3. The successful completion of sixty semester hours at an accredited college.

Chief Gollott pointed out that those who qualify for these positions will undergo a complete training program, equal to that training regular enforcement officers undergo.

Gollott stated that there would be only some 25 officers for the Reserve Unit selected and trained.

SHAPE

SPORT HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Most people have two basic misconceptions regarding stress: these must be corrected before one can even hope to cope. First, stress is not always the result of a negative or bad situation. In fact, according to Holmes and Rahe's "Life Change Scale," the act of getting married (the happiest day of many people's lives) is as stressful as being fired from work. The second common misconception is that stress is the exclusive domain of the workplace. Stress is universal in nature. It is the result of our body attempting to adjust to changes that are either psychological or physiological in nature.

We adapt to stress daily to preserve a balance in our body called homeostasis. As changes occur the body automatically adjusts and gets back in balance. To do so, however, requires physiological responses or mechanisms that may be called the warning signs of stress. Remember, the body will always try to balance itself but will not always succeed. When it fails, distress results and may surface as general irritability, insomnia, hypertension, headaches, ulcers, alcoholism, overeating or drug abuse. Whatever the result, the person under such stress suffers more.

How can we identify the warning signs of stress to help us avoid the pitfalls of distress? In broad terms the body reacts to stress with physiological responses—some we can easily identify and some we cannot. For instance, the warning signs we cannot easily identify include:

- Increased metabolism
- Increased hormonal activity
- Increased blood flow to the extremities
- Increased blood pressure

These signs can be measured by sophisticated techniques that are not easily available to most people.

There are, however, other warning signs that we can easily identify without any special instruments:

- Increased heart rate
- Increased breathing rate

These two warning signs are easily measured. One can monitor his heart rate by merely taking his pulse rate for ten seconds at the radial (wrist) or carotid (neck) arteries and multiplying by six. This measure is the number of heart beats per minute. People under stress have more heart beats per minutes as stress increases. Therefore, it is possible to compare your resting pulse (taken the same way when you awaken in the morning) to your pulse rate at any other time to determine your stress level. Breathing rates can be measured and compared in much the same manner.

Once you have learned to identify the warning signs of stress, you can begin to recognize which situations are more stressful. This is the first and most important step in preparing yourself to cope with stress.

Hollywood Marquee

by James S. Leach

HOLLYWOOD — Even though he's one of television's most popular stars, Miami Vice's Don Johnson hasn't been having the best of luck lately. Take for example, earlier this year while filming a "Vice" chase scene, Don stumbled and suffered a fall which resulted in a badly sprained ankle. To add insult to injury, while attending a pre-Super Bowl gala in New Orleans, he stumbled once again, but this time at the feet of a pretty lady, and a big bad Bear.

As the story's told, Mr. Johnson strolled (with the aid of his trusty cane) up to a pretty blond, who just happened to be former Vice-President Walter Mondale's daughter Eleanor, and attempted to charm her with his best "Sonny Crockett" moves. Just as our hero thought he was getting to first base, along comes Eleanor's date, big bad Chicago Bear offensive tackle Keith Van Horn. Needless to say "Don Juan" Johnson got body blocked right out of the picture.

Strike three came for Johnson a few weeks later when his "in" Miami Vice look was declared "out" at a posh San Francisco restaurant. Owners of the swank Italian eatery Doro's refused Don service because he wasn't wearing a tie. Tie? Johnson's shirt didn't even have a collar. I wonder if they checked for socks?

As if Johnson hasn't had enough problems, he recently broke up with his longtime girlfriend Patti D'Arbanville. You see, being a big-time TV star isn't really all it's cracked up to be. But fear not for Don. As I write, some of the world's most beautiful ladies are lining up to sooth his wounds.

In the News

Hold on to your little girl's heart, as she may never be the same after seeing Menudo's newest member, 13-year-old Sergio Gonzales.

Speaking of big-time stars, here's one in the making. Florida-born Sergio Gonzales, a 13-year-old eighth grade student, born in Gainesville, Florida, and now living in Bayamon, Puerto Rico, has been named the newest member of the hot singing group Menudo.

The newest heartthrob of the tennybopper set will fill the place vacated by Ron Rossello who had an unexpectedly early departure from the group due to health problems. The five-foot two-inch, 110 pound bi-lingual youngster will add a special flavor to the group as he's learning many of Menudo's worldwide hits in Italian.

Menudo, along with El DeBarge, Whitney Houston, Stacy Lattisaw, Lisa Lisa, Teena Marie, James Taylor of Kool and The Gang, Stephanie Mills, and New Edition together with rappers Blow, the Fat Boys, Grand Master Melle Mel, Run-D.M.C. and Whodini, recently joined forces to record "King Holiday," a tribute single honoring the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The all-star ensemble of under 30-year-old singers and rappers came together to form the King Dream chorus & Holiday Crew in the project conceived by Dexter King, the 24-year-old son of Dr. King.

W. DALE STOGNER

Merchants names vice president

W. Dale Stogner has joined the staff of Merchants Bank & Trust Co. as vice president in charge of operations.

Stogner received a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Mississippi, with a major in banking and finance.

He is a graduate of the LSU School of Banking of the South, IBM 1400 School, and IBM 360 School.

Stogner began his banking career with Gulf National Bank in 1963 and was cashier and vice president from 1972-1978, according to W. R. Allison, bank president.

He was executive vice president, cashier and director of First State Bank from 1978-1986.

He is a member of the Long Beach YMCA, Long Beach Rotary Club, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and Pass Christian Isles Golf Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Stogner and their two children reside in Long Beach where Mrs. Stogner is a newly-appointed member of the Long Beach School Board.

1930's fiddling record released

"Great Big Yam Potatoes: Anglo-American Fiddle Music from Mississippi," a record featuring fiddlers from all over the state, has been released by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

The fiddlers, recorded in the 1930s by Herbert Halpert and Abbott Ferriss on a WPA project, demonstrate the rich tradition of fiddle music in the state.

During the recording period — May 8 to June 11, 1939 — Halpert and Ferriss recorded ballads from the northeast corner of the state; roustabout songs, field hollers, work songs and blues from the Delta; play-party songs and sacred music from all over the state. The tunes to these songs, including "Great Big Yam Potatoes," the title song, are now available in this important new recording.

Accompanying the record is a sixteen-page booklet featuring essays on the project, fiddling styles in Mississippi, biographies of the fiddlers, and notations on the actual tunes.

The record is a result of efforts from several institutions: the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, the Mississippi Arts Commission's Folklife Program, the National Endowment for the Arts — Folk Arts Program, the Library of Congress, and the Center for the Study of Southern Culture, University of Mississippi.

The record is available for $9 plus $1 postage and handling from the Center for the Study of Southern Culture, University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677.

For more information about the record, contact the Public Information Office, Department of Archives and History, 359-1424.

Chairmen of Veterans' Affairs Committees reach agreement

Congressman G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-MS) and Senator Frank Murkowski (R-AK), the chairmen of the House and Senate Veterans' Affairs Committees, report they have reached agreement on a compromise budget cost-savings measure that provides for reforms in VA health care eligibility.

The measure, developed to achieve mandated budget savings of at least $1.2 billion over the next three years, also authorizes the Veterans Administration to bill private insurance companies for payment of an insured non-service-connected veteran's medical bill, commonly referred to as third-party reimbursement.

"I want to compliment Senator Murkowski for his cooperation and for his hard work in getting this measure ready for consideration before adjournment," said Montgomery.

"We had some major policy differences, but Senator Murkowski was willing to compromise in order to resolve those differences, and I'm happy with what developed," said Montgomery. "We have strengthened considerably our health care commitment to thousands of veterans, and we've complied with the wishes of the House and Senate."

"I am pleased that Chairman Montgomery and I could work together to establish provisions that will, in my mind, work to enhance VA health care services for non-service-connected veterans with limited incomes," said Senator Murkowski.

The compromise would provide that VA hospital care be furnished to service-connected disabled veterans, low-income veterans, and, to the extent resources are available, other eligible veterans.

Under the compromise, the VA shall furnish hospital care to veterans with service-connected disabilities; former prisoners of war; veterans who have been exposed to Agent Orange or radiation; veterans of World War I and earlier conflicts; and non-service-connected veterans with income not exceeding $15,000 for a single veteran, and $18,000 for a veteran with one dependent (add $999 for each additional dependent).

Non-service-connected veterans with incomes above these levels may receive hospital care if space and resources are otherwise available, as provided under current law.

Non-service-connected veterans with income above $20,000 (single) and $25,000 (married) — $999 for each additional dependent — who receive hospital care would be required to make an initial payment based on the Medicare deductible (estimated to be $492 for inpatient care in FY '86).

The rate of payment would be $492 for the first 90 days of hospital care. Half of the deductible would be required for each additional 90 days of care within a 12-month period.

The maximum amount a veteran in this category would have to pay for health care is $1230 in a 12-month

Cookbook to lower cancer risk now available

A new cookbook of recipes that meet the dietary guidelines for lower cancer risk is now available from the American Institute for Cancer Research, a national, non-profit organization which focuses on cancer prevention through diet and nutrition.

The AICR cookbook, 'An Ounce of Prevention,' provides more than 75 recipes for a variety of dishes from appetizers to soups, entrees to desserts. Each recipe has been tested and analyzed to meet the guidelines established by the National Academy of Sciences in its 1983 landmark report, 'Diet, Nutrition and Cancer.'

Copies of 'An Ounce of Prevention,' winter volume, are available for a $6 donation, which includes shipping and handling.

Copies may be ordered by sending a check or money order for $6, payable to "AICR", to American Institute for Cancer Research, AICR Cookbook, Dept. CBI, Washington, D.C. 20069.

New plant

Alexander Industries Inc., a New Orleans marine-products firm, will put a new manufacturing plant in the Pass Christian Industrial Park.

The new plant, to be housed at the site of the old Hemenway plant, will be used for marine-products manufacturing.

Details of the new plant's employment were not immediately available from Harrison County Development Commission, but company officials plan to begin preparing the site for production immediately.

Alexander will lease the property from the commission at $1,500 a month for a year, with an option to buy at the end of the year.

W. T. "Bill" Allison, president of the Development Commission, said the commission has had dealings with Alexander for several years through the Turnbull Enterprises plant in the Gulfport industrial park.

Turnbull, which also manufactures marine products, is owned by Alexander.

Self-employed must file returns

Taxpayers who are self-employed must file a Federal income tax return if they had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more.

Self-employed persons should use Schedule SE (Form 1040) to figure their self-employment tax. The self-employment tax rate for 1985 is 11.8 percent. Self-employment tax applies to taxpayers who carry on a trade or business as a sole proprietor, a member of a partnership, or as an independent contractor.

For more information, taxpayers can obtain free IRS Publication 533, "Self-Employment Tax," from local IRS offices or by writing to the IRS. In addition, many libraries carry a reference set of IRS publications.

Hospital board members listed

L. V. Johnston, executive director of Garden Park Community Hospital in Gulfport, reports on the hospital's new board of directors for 1986, eleven were re-appointed:

Dr. Victor Bazzone, physician; Dr. David L. Clippinger, physician; Dr. William Seidensticker, chief-of-staff; Dr. John Stripling, physician; Mrs. Hazel Portwood, community leader; William Allison, president/Merchants Bank and Trust Company; Michael Matthews, owner, A & A Petroleum.

And, Phil Schrodel, American Medical International/Eastern Division Office physician relations director; Carol Warner, American Medical International assistant vice president/financial manager; Tom Gore, American Medical International Marketing Network director; and Johnston.

In addition to the original eleven (11) members, a new board position will be filled by Dr. Jare' Barkley, according to Johnston.

Dr. Barkley, a native of Greenville, joined Garden Park's medical staff in 1973.

He is board certified by the American Board of Surgery, and is a member of the Coast Counties Medical Society and is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Committee on Alcoholism plans benefit jazz concert

The Committee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans (CADA), a United Way agency, will sponsor a benefit jazz concert featuring the Preservation Hall Band on Sunday, April 13, from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Monteleone Hotel's La Nouvelle Orleans Room, 214 Royal Street, in the French Quarter.

The Preservation Hall Band members, who are touring the East and giving another performance at Wolf Trap immediately preceding the CADA benefit concert, donate their time and liberal talents to CADA each year to help the agency in its once-a-year-only fund-raising appeal.

Tax-deductible tickets, available from CADA at 3314 Conti Street in New Orleans or by telephoning 524-HELP, are $10 for adults and $5 for students.

Door prizes and special guests are planned.

CADA is a non-profit, tax-exempt voluntary health agency which has served since October of 1960. Its purpose is to combat alcoholism and drug abuse in the Greater New Orleans metropolitan area.

The agency is governed by a board of directors who are community leaders representative of the population of the area.

Their philosophy is that the alcoholic and the drug abuser are sick people who can be helped, and that it is a community responsibility to combat those two major public health problems.

Among CADA's services are education for medical professionals, schools and colleges, seminars, nurses; guidance to individuals, families and businesses (free confidential guidance either by telephone or in person); policy assistance to industry; referral through its 524-HELP telephone line to provide helpful information from its cross-indexed referral service related to allied agencies that can help; information services; coordination of existing services and the development of new ones; prevention programs and other activities designed to work toward eradicating two health abuse problems that affect the social and economic structure of the community.

Contaminated milk not likely in state

Mississippi State Department of Health sanitarians are double checking grocery stores to be sure that no contaminated milk is being sold in Mississippi.

Mississippi Public Health Laboratory has confirmed the presence of heptachlor, a cancer-causing pesticide, in milk distributed from Gold Star Dairy in Little Rock, Ark.

The milk probably never reached the market in Mississippi because Gold Star issued a voluntary recall of milk with expiration dates up to and including March 23, and health officials in Arkansas quarantined the remainder of the possibly contaminated milk.

Mississippi lab tests have shown levels of .5 parts per million in milk with a March 21 expiration date and .35 ppm in milk with a March 23 expiration date.

The FDA action level for heptachlor on a fat content basis is .1 ppm. Tests in the Mississippi lab for milk dated to expire March 18 and 19 were negative.

J. O. May, director of the State Department of Health Sanitation Division, said he has taken all possible precautions to assure that the contaminated milk never reached the grocery shelves or the consumer in Mississippi.

To check for potentially contaminated milk, the consumer should look in the lower right corner of the label for "Gold Star Dairy, Little Rock, Ark.," and/or "Plant Number 05-28," and for any expiration date up to and including March 23.

Consumers who have milk with this information on the label should return the milk to the grocer for a full refund from Gold Star Dairy. Officials say that milk processed at Gold Star with a later than March 23 expiration date does not contain the contaminant heptachlor.

Mississippi health officials emphasize that no imminent health hazard exists in relation to this milk recall. Any individual would have to have consumed large quantities of the milk over an extended period of time to affect his health.

GUMBO TASTE TEST—Congressman Trent Lott samples the first bowl of gumbo served at the Mississippi Gumbo Festival Fais Do-Do in Washington, D.C. recently as "Chef" Bruce Necaise, left, of Hancock County and Gumbo Festival Queen Nina Ladner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garvis Ladner of the Lizana

Community wait for his OK on the delicacy. The festival was the eighth annual event in Washington sponsored by Congressman and Mrs. Lott, the Mississippi Farm Bureau and the citizens of Necaise Crossing and Hancock County.

Sand Hill Hospital elects staff officers

CPC Sand Hill Hospital reports the following physicians have been elected to fill the medical staff officer positions for 1986:

Dr. Emanuel G. DeFraitres, with offices in Ocean Springs, has been elected chief of staff; Dr. David Sonogo, with offices in Gulfport, has been elected vice chief of staff; and, Dr. Henry Maggio, with offices in Gulfport, was elected secretary/treasurer.

CPC Sand Hill Hospital, a 60 bed hospital, is the only hospital in Mississippi strictly licensed for psychological and substance abuse treatment of adolescents.

Dr. Leonard Ball is the medical director of the hospital located on Hwy. 49 north of Gulfport.

The first woman elected governor of a state was Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, elected in 1925.

LOOK IT UP—Actor Traber Burns, left, and actress Shari Schneider, both of Jackson, answer spelling questions with the help of a dictionary on "Write Right," a Mississippi ETV production. "Write Right" is one part of the "GED Series," which is designed to help adult students pass the GED exam and thus earn a high school equivalency certificate. The series airs at 6 and 6:30 p.m., Sundays, on Mississippi ETV, and the "Write Right" module, which teaches writing and grammar skills, begins Sunday, March 16. Those interested in learning more about the "GED Series" may write GED, Mississippi ETV, P. O. Box 1101, Jackson, Mississippi, 39215-1101. St. Ann-St. John Altar Society will meet at 11 a.m. Wednesday, March 26, in the parish hall for the regular monthly meeting of the group.

The monthly luncheon and social sponsored by the altar society will be held at noon in the parish hall immediately following the meeting.

March hostess, Mrs. Mary Caillier, has announced she will be serving a delicious lunch of baked chicken, lima beans and rice, beet salad with buttered French bread.

Dave Caillier has graciously volunteered his culinary skill for this month's luncheon.

Everyone is invited. Donation $2.50. Drinks and dessert will be available.

Mrs. Mabel Brown, chairlady, is again reminding everyone St. Ann's annual Easter Cake Sale will be held Easter Saturday and Sunday before and after all masses.

Donations are still needed for worthy cause as well as order cakes. Call Mabel at 467-7164 or 467-5085.

There will be no CCD classes for grade school students Holy Thursday.

Palms will be blessed and distributed at all masses at St. Ann and St. John Churches this weekend.

Holy Week Schedule, St. Ann Church, Clermont Harbor:

Wednesday, 7 p.m., Way of the Cross followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Holy Thursday, 7 p.m., Holy Thursday Mass of the Lord's Last Supper.

Good Friday, 7 p.m., Liturgy of Word, Passion of the Lord, General Intercessions, Veneration of the Cross and Holy Communion.

Holy Saturday, 7 p.m., Easter Vigil, Service of the Light, Easter Proclamation, Liturgy of the Word, Blessing of the Baptismal, Gospel of the Mass and Renewal of Baptismal Vows.

Easter Sunday, 9:30 a.m. Mass, St. John Church, Lakeshore; Mass 8 a.m. Easter Sunday.

FmHA teams with private lenders on farm loans

Agriculture lenders can join with the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) in a three-year interest "buy-down" program to help farmers having trouble repaying their loans or obtaining new ones, according to John Arthur of FmHA in Jackson.

Under the new program, lenders may make or refinance FmHA guaranteed loans to eligible farmers at reduced interest rates. FmHA will match a lender's reduction of interest rates up to two percent. If a lender reduces an interest rate two percent, FmHA can match that, providing a four percent interest rate reduction for the farmer.

FmHA can guarantee up to 90 percent of another lender's loan, Arthur said. If the borrower should default, the Federal agency would pay up to 90 percent of the loss to the lender.

"We hope agriculture lenders in Mississippi will make use of this program," said Arthur.

"By making Federally guaranteed loans at reduced rates to qualified farmers, lenders will strengthen their agriculture loan portfolio, reduce their chances of loss, and increase the availability of affordable credit to family farmers."

To qualify for a loan under the new three-year, $490 million program, a borrower must be unable to get a loan elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms, must be unable to make loan payments unless the interest rate is reduced, and must show enough projected income to make the reduced-rate loan payments.

The world's rainfall record for the most in a minute belongs to Unionville, Maryland: 1.23 inches.

Alumni Chapter to mark USM Founder's Day

HATTIESBURG— Alumni chapters and groups across the state and country are making plans for March 30, the annual observance of the founding of the University of Southern Mississippi (USM Day).

March 30, 1986, will mark the second of three planned USM Day celebrations during the university's 30-month 75th anniversary observance. Since March 30 falls on Easter Sunday this year, however, many groups will meet just before or after the actual date of USM's founding.

Speakers for the various meetings will be dispatched from the Hattiesburg campus to chapter meetings within a 100-mile radius of USM. Other groups will schedule videotapes on loan from the university and other activities such as cookouts, pot-luck suppers and covered-dish dinners.

The meetings normally are a time when chapters elect local officers for the coming year and formulate plans for homecoming, set for Oct. 17-18, 1986.

The Hancock County Chapter of the USM Alumni Association will hold an observance at 1 p.m. on April 5 at the Tommy Hayes Camp. Terry Bethea of the USM Public Relations Department will be the speaker.

To obtain more information, contact David Compretta of Bay St. Louis at (601) 467-5490.

State seeking to eliminate school building barriers to handicapped

The State Department of Education has developed an application for federal funds available to school districts for the purpose of altering existing buildings and equipment to eliminate architectural barriers to the handicapped.

In an effort to get public comments on the application, the State Department of Education has mailed copies of the application to local school district superintendents. All recipients have been asked to make these copies available for public review.

A copy is also available for review in Suite 704 of the Walter Sillers Building in Jackson, MS. Written comments will be received until April 10, 1986. They should be sent to Bobby Stacy, P. O. Box 771, Jackson, MS 39205.

Approval of the application is expected to result in the release of over $475,000 in federal funds to the state. Except for 5 percent for administration costs, these funds will be allocated to local school districts on a competitive basis.

News Brief

PLANT MEDICINE STUDY
HATTIESBURG— A $1,500 grant to the University of Southern Mississippi will fund a study of the Meadow Rue, a plant used widely in old medicinal remedies.

Dr. Stella Elakovich, associate professor of chemistry, said she will determine in which parts of the country the plant predominates before collecting samples to examine for alkaloids. Alkaloids or chemicals are found in many present-day medicines such as cocaine, she explained.

American Cyanamid, a chemical company based in Pearl River, N.Y., is funding the research

Folklore Society sets meeting at Ole Miss

A musical emphasis will highlight the annual meeting of the Mississippi Folklore Society, set for April 11-12 at The University of Mississippi.

The society, organized at Ole Miss in 1927, will feature a diverse program on folk culture in the state, including a lecture on the music of Jimmie Rodgers by Dr. Nolan Porterfield, professor of English at Southeast Missouri State University. He has authored a critical biography of the Mississippian, known as the "Father of Country Music".

Other lecturers will include Dr. Thomas McHaney, professor of English at Georgia State University who will discuss the papers of the late Arthur Palmer Hudson now housed at the John Davis Williams Library at Ole Miss.

Sacred Harp singers from Calhoun County will perform, as will the "Mississippi Moonshine" clog dancers.

Dr. David Evans, professor of English at Memphis State University, will make a presentation on blues music.

Dr. Warren Steel, assistant professor of music and a musicologist and folklorist, will both speak and perform for the group.

Other program sessions are being scheduled. For further information, contact Dr. Charles Cannon, Ole Miss professor of English and Society president at (601) 232-7668.

BACKACHE
Research studies reveal certain clues which are signs of impending back problems. 1. carrying your head to one side, 2. a low shoulder, 3. a tilted hip, 4. pain at the base of your head or in the hips all indicate signals of developing spinal problems. These are clues that the bone framework of the spine is being twisted out of shape, leading first to a weak spine, inviting more serious complications. Weak spines are subject to serious spinal displacements which can pinch nerves and lead to internal damage. Chiropractic care enjoys a wide reputation in the correction of spinal structural problems. If your back aches, call your doctor of Chiropractic and prevent serious complications.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...

THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.

It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him. Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?

What about the successful business woman? She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic. Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top? Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.

At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.

DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.

Coast Episcopal looking for lost alumni

Coast Episcopal Schools, originally Christ Episcopal Day School, is looking for lost alumni. The school is located in Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, and serves the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Christ Episcopal Day School was founded in 1950 with grades 1-8, and in 1971 added the high school for grades 9-12.

The school is seeking information on any graduate of Coast Episcopal Schools, either the high school or the elementary school. Please send name, address, and information about graduate and family to Coast Episcopal Schools Alumni Association, P. O. Drawer "N", Pass Christian, Mississippi 39571.

USM student survey

Coast real estate brokers

LONG BEACH— Associates in real estate brokerages along the Mississippi Gulf Coast are mostly independent contractors rather than employees, according to a recent survey.

Graduate students in a University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Coast real estate brokerage class determined from a random survey of 70 brokers between Pascagoula and Pass Christian that 99 percent of the associates are independent contractors.

"The brokers said they feel this has given their salespeople more independence and also avoids the liabilities associated with regular employees," said Roger Poulos, instructor of the USM-Gulf Park campus class that conducted the survey.

It was found that 70 percent of the contacted real estate firms are individually owned, 23 percent are corporations and 7 percent are partnerships. The 16 percent that are franchised said they felt this was an advantage because it gives them better coverage and a name that is well-known or common with most individuals, Poulos reported from the survey.

Thirty-one percent of the brokers surveyed said they feel it is to their advantage to offer in-house training programs for their associates on a weekly basis. New associates usually go through an initial four-week training program.

The number of associates in an office ranged from zero to 60, with an average of five associates per agency, Poulos said. Numerous offices are husband-and-wife - owned-and-operated, or solo operations.

Most brokers contacted, 86 percent, are realtors and belong to a broker's organization. It was also found that most Mississippi Gulf Coast brokers originally lived on the coast before opening a real estate office. Less than 1 percent moved to the coast with the intention of opening a real estate business.

A multiple listing service is used by 86 percent of the Gulf Coast brokers surveyed. The service allows listings from all MLS members to be grouped and published in a MLS book. If a broker uses a computer in his office, he also may obtain this same listing through his computer service.

"The book can be used when a salesperson is away from the office. The book also includes pictures, which the potential buyer can see before actually going to the property. The computer is valuable because the information is constantly updated," Poulos said.

It also was found through the survey that 44 percent of the agencies have an associated business with their real estate service. The three most popular types of associated businesses are insurance, appraisal and construction.

"No matter what type of real estate a buyer is looking for, there is a broker on the coast ready to assist," said Poulos.

Forty of the 70 agencies contacted in the survey offer property management services, Poulos added. The commission sought by coast realtors ranges from 6 percent on residential, 10 percent on commercial and 10 percent on acreage.

Poulos said all the agencies contacted by the master's degree program students were very hospitable, noting the realtors' time and cooperation was much appreciated.

USM staffer wins film award

University of Southern Mississippi public relations staffer Steve Rouse has won a Special Merit Award in audiovisual communications competition among colleges and universities throughout the Southeast.

Rouse, 25, a native of Vicksburg, received the award from the Southeastern District Council for Advancement and Support of Education for his production of an athletic recruiting film entitled, "USM Basketball, A Golden Tradition."

Public relations staff personnel from 150 institutions of higher learning in the Southeast participated in the 1985 communications awards competition.

Rouse - who graduated from USM in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in radio, television and film - said his film featured USM President Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, head basketball coach M. K. Turk, university sports broadcaster John Cox and members of the USM basketball team.

"It attempts to show prospective recruits what USM has to offer in the way of basketball, academic programs and social life," said Rouse, who serves as radio-TV editor and producer for the USM Public Relations Department, headed by Director W. E. "Bud" Kirkpatrick.

Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rouse of Vicksburg, also has won seven awards during the past three years from the College Public Relations Association of Mississippi.

Another film on which he worked, "Webb Wilder, Private Eye," won grand prize at the 1983 Texas Union National Film Competition at the University of Texas. It has aired several times on the USA Network's "Night Flight" program.

Narcotics News

Donald Butler
Director
Bureau of Narcotics

Q. What is "Rush"?

(C.W. Eupora, MS)

A. Rush is an inhalant. Inhalants are breathable chemicals that produce mind-altering (psychoactive) vapors.

Inhalant abuse is prevalent among the 7 to 17 age group because of its availability and being inexpensive.

Although inhalants are different in make-up, nearly all produce effects similar to anesthetics, which act to slow down the body's functions.

Most people do not think of inhalants as a drug because they were never meant to be used that way. Some examples are airplane glue, hair spray, gasoline, oven cleaner, paint thinner, and the list goes on.

Immediate effects include nosebleeds, coughing, nausea, lack of coordination and loss of appetite.

Inhalants also cause irregular heartbeats, breathing problems, and can cause sudden death.

If you would like to ask a question, please address it to: Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, P. O. Box 6462, Jackson, MS 39212.

FREEDOM SHRINE—Members of the Hancock County
Exchange Club display a partially completed Freedom Shrine Saturday morning in the Hancock County Courthouse. The completed shrine, provided by the National Exchange Club and placed in the central hallway of the courthouse by local members, consists of 28 historical American documents ranging from the Mayflower Compact to the texts of German and Japanese surrenders signed at the end of World War II. From left are Billy Stechmann, Michael Haas Sr., Michael Haas Jr., Jim Henry, Peter Platz and Michael Necaise. Not pictured are Project Co-Chairmen Kelvin Schultz and Sam Perniclaro. The Exchange Club invites the public to view the display. (Staff photo by Debra Blainette)

ing press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc.,
publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers
from Appalachian Newspapers,
Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit
Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type'

to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris S7L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after be-

"Everything seemed to be against us at the fire," Lizana said.

The building was a wooden structure with a suspended ceiling and a tin roof.

"When the fire got in between the ceiling and the roof it was just like lighting an oven and shutting the door," Lizana said.

He added that heat became so intense that fire trucks had to be moved.

With a good wind, the fire would have probably spread to Bobby's lounge, a wooden structure across the street, Lizana said.

Lizana also said in spite of a significant amount of rain Wednesday, the fire department had return-

He added that the suspect had been "very cooperative."

Toca apparently died at about 3 a.m. March 14 as a result of stab wound to the throat.

He was found dead in the bedroom of his home March 17 by his brother,
New Orleans resident, who had come to Hancock County because he had been unable to reach Toca by telephone.

Peterson said the stabbing had ap-newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building.

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon
Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's in-

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery

press in Bay St. Louis plant

Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo, installed a four-unit News King press in its Bay St. Louis plant last weekend.

Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher, stated, "The installation of the four-unit press will enable The Sea Coast Echo to better serve the citizens in growing Hancock County."

The 1980 model press was purchased by Bay St. Louis Newspapers from Appalachian Newspapers, Inc., of Pikeville, Kentucky.

The press replaces a three unit Harris Cottrell Model V-15-A installed by the Echo in 1970 following Hurricane Camille. The old press was sold to Star Printing Company, Inc. of Amory, Miss.

"The additional unit with the newly installed press will give the Echo better flexibility in the use of color in advertising and news coverage," Cuevas added.

The Echo has been a pioneer in the use of offset newspaper printing in Mississippi, being among the first in the state to convert from 'hot type' to 'cold type' in 1956 with the installation of a Harris S7L offset press, Cuevas said.

The first offset press printed only four pages on one side at a time was later replaced by a three unit Cottrell which printed 12 pages at a time.

That press was replaced after being damaged by salt water spray from Hurricane Camille when the newspaper was located at 112 S. Second Street, the former Woodman of the World building.

The News King is capable of printing 16 pages at one time.

The Echo has printed on its own presses from the paper's beginning in 1892, with the exception of the first issue which was printed on the presses of the Tarpon Beacon in Pass Christian.

G.B. Moreau, publisher of the Echo for 50 years, stated the reason for being printed by The Tarpon Beacon was because all the equipment had not arrived in time for the first issue.

The issue of Sunday, March 9 was printed by the Picayune Item in Picayune during the new press's installation.

"There were a lot of kinks which had to be worked out of the press after the trip from Pikeville, and that was the reason home delivery and newstand delivery was later than usual," Cuevas allowed.
